

Studying humanitarian interventions and other topics in peace and conflict studies: Challenges of methodology and research design

Workshop

5-6 June 2019

University of São Paulo (USP)

Social Sciences Building (FFLCH), Room 14

DAAD

Program

Wednesday, 5 June

- 14:00-15:00 h Introduction: Challenges of methodology and research design
Introductory remarks and exchange of experiences
Brigitte Weiffen (Visiting Professor, Department of Political Science, University of São Paulo)
- 15:00-15:30 h Coffee break
- 15:30-17:00 h Panel 1: Humanitarianism in theory and practice
In search of methodological coherence on humanitarianism: how to reconstruct principles history?
Leticia Rizzotti (Master student, Interinstitutional Graduate Program in International Relations “San Tiago Dantas”)
Child Soldiers Recruitment in Armed Conflicts: An analysis under the perspective of international humanitarian law
Gabriela Gonçalves Nogarolli (Graduate in Law, University Center of Curitiba)
Access to information and data management in the context of migrant family reunification processes
Ana Carolina Contin Kosiak (Master student, Universidade Positivo and Universidade Federal do Paraná, Curitiba) and Melissa Martins Casagrande (Professor, Faculties of Law and International Relations, Universidade Positivo, Curitiba)
Discussants: Cláudia Alvarenga Marconi (Professor, Catholic University of São Paulo) and Matthias Dembinski (Peace Research Institute Frankfurt)

Thursday, 6 June

- 9:00-10:30 h Keynote 1: Humanitarian military interventions – A new dataset
Matthias Dembinski (Senior Researcher, Peace Research Institute Frankfurt)
- 10:30-11:00 h Coffee break
- 11:00-12:30 h Panel 2: Debates on the local in peacebuilding
The local as the populus: towards a hegemony approach to peacebuilding
Aureo de Toledo Gomes (Professor, Federal University of Uberlândia)
The “Coloniality of Peace”: searching for (decolonizing) methods in the study of the Peace Agreements in Colombia
Lucas Guerra (Master student, International Relations Institute, Catholic University of Rio de Janeiro)
Human rights in postmodernity - feminist contributions
Juliana César (Master student, Department of Political Science, University of São Paulo)
Discussants: Camila de Macedo Braga (Postdoctoral researcher, International Relations Research Center, University of São Paulo) and Matthias Dembinski (Peace Research Institute Frankfurt)
- 12:30-14:00 h Lunch
- 14:00-15:00 h Keynote 2: The challenges of researching humanitarian intervention (R2P) as a norm
Kai Michael Kenkel (Professor, International Relations Institute, Catholic University of Rio de Janeiro)
- 15:00-15:30 h Coffee break
- 15:30-17:00 h Panel 3: Studying the role of the UN
The impact of peacebuilding activities of the United Nations peacekeeping operations: comparative results Haiti and El Salvador in the 1990s
Vanessa Braga Matijascic (Postdoctoral researcher, Department of Political Science, University of São Paulo)
The Transnational Dynamics of Security Sector Reform in Haiti
João Fernando Finazzi (PhD candidate, Interinstitutional Graduate Program in International Relations “San Tiago Dantas”)
The impact of the UN Security Council on international mechanisms for human rights’ protection: the case of R2P and ICC
Júlia Battistuzzi Penachioni (PhD candidate, Department of Political Science, University of São Paulo)
Discussants: Kai Michael Kenkel (International Relations Institute, Catholic University of Rio de Janeiro) and Matthias Dembinski (Peace Research Institute Frankfurt)